Fever In The Community

Below are some ways that the Fever is active in the community. Questions on how to become involved with your favorite Fever activity may be directed to Lori Satterfield, Director of Community Relations for the Fever, by calling (317) 917-2500.

FEVER ADVISORY TEAM

In a unique partnership with the Indianapolis community, the Fever created a Community Advisory Team in January 2000. The Advisory Team is a support group, which consists of nearly 30 prominent and influential women in the Indianapolis area. The partnership between the Fever and the community leaders is the first of its kind in the WNBA's six-year history. The intent of the Advisory Team is to galvanize support from some of the most influential women in the city and to assist the Fever with various community programs.

F.E.V.E.R.

For Every Victory Earns Respect – Fever players spend nearly three months between January and March speaking to Indianapolis-area fifth-grade boys and girls about the value of setting goals and achieving them. Tamika Catchings appeared at more than 30 schools during the 2001-02 offseason, while teammates Niele Ivey and Kelly Schumacher double-teamed over 30 schools during the 2002-03 offseason.

SELF-ESTEEM SEMINAR

For a third straight year, the Fever targeted young girls from the Indianapolis Public School (IPS) system and conducted a self-esteem seminar prior to the start of the season. One of the franchise's primary community relations initiatives, the purpose of the seminar each year is to help boost self-esteem, to help avoid drug use, alcoholism, teen pregnancy and crime. Usually held in late April prior to the start of training camp, this year's Self-Esteem Seminar was held on Wednesday, April 23, 2003 at the NCAA Hall of Champions with participation from Tamika Catchings, Niele Ivey, Kelly Schumacher, Stephanie White and Monica Maxwell.

PREGAME BALL EXCHANGE

A trademark of the WNBA and the Indiana Fever, the pregame ball exchange affords youngsters an opportunity to receive a game ball from Fever players prior to the tipoff of each game.

FEVER FRIENDS

In partnership with Big Brothers Big Sisters of Central Indiana, the Fever will match young boys and girls with an adult mentor to attend Fever games throughout the 2003 season. Through this program, Fever players interact with kids and serve as role models. Fever Friends, which started during the inaugural Fever season in 2000, partnered exclusively with Big Sisters of Indiana prior to this year. Since the Big Brothers and Big Sisters programs merged, the Fever will now host boys and girls in 2003.

THE FEVER FUND OF THE PACERS FOUNDATION

The vision of the Fever Fund of the Pacers Foundation is to be recognized as a leading funding resource for programs that promote a strong self-image and encourage the development of valuable life skills among young women throughout the state of Indiana. Annual fundraising opportunities are conducted through each of the Indiana Pacers and Indiana Fever basketball franchises. Specific to the Fever Fund, organizations benefiting from since 2001, among others, are the Boys & Girls Club of Indianapolis, Girls Incorporated of Indianapolis, The Julian Center and the YWCA Family Intervention Center.

GIVE-A-GAME PROGRAM

Over the past three years, individuals and companies have purchased Fever season tickets and donated those tickets to the Pacers Foundation or another organization of their choice, allowing youth in the community to attend a Fever game. Last year over 17,500 tickets were donated over the course of the 17-game home schedule. At every Fever home game last season, over 1,000 seats were occupied by kids benefiting from the Give-A-Game program.

GOVERNOR'S FITNESS CHALLENGE

The Fever has partnered for the past two years with the Indiana Governor's Office for the Governor's Fitness Challenge. The school with the most students who completed a 9-week fitness challenge won a 1-hour Fever fitness clinic hosted by a Fever player and coach at their school. The 2003 Northern Indiana winner was New Britton Elementary School. For the second year in a row, St. Mary's Catholic School was the Southern Indiana winner.

READING MONTH TIMEOUTS

The Fever teamed with the Indiana Pacers in 2002-03 to host 10 Reading Month TimeOuts throughout the Indianapolis area. Reading Month TimeOuts are part of the Fever Read to Achieve Program.

Coach Nell Fortner kicked off the Reading Month festivities by joining Czar Hudson with the Indiana Children's Wish Fund at Crestview Elementary School for this annual NBA/WNBA and team community initiative.

Fever In The Community

FEVER FUND BOWLING TOURNAMENT

Another program assisted by the Fever Advisory Team is an annual bowling tournament to help raise funds for the Fever Fund of the Pacers Foundation. The Fever has made its Fever Fund Bowling Tournament an annual preseason event, which this season was held on April 25 at Brownsburg Bowl, located in Brownsburg, Ind. Fever players and coaches participated in this great event.

The Fever Fund has raised over $35,000 from the bowling tournament since its inception in 2001.

FEVER / YMCA JUNIOR HOOPS LEAGUE

For the fourth season, the Fever will partner with the YMCA to host a girls' basketball league from June-August for girls ages 6-15. Young girls not only play in the basketball league and receive a free jersey, they also get the opportunity to interact with Fever coaches and players. In addition, the girls attend a pre-selected Fever game.

Last year, the Indiana Fever hosted the finals of the league at Conseco Fieldhouse, where teams participated on both the Main Court and Emmis Court throughout the day. At the conclusion of each game Fever player Stephanie White distributed trophies and congratulated each team member for their participation and hard work. In addition, players also had the opportunity to receive White's autograph.

COURTSIDE FEVER

Courtside Fever is published 11 times in The Indianapolis Star during the Fever season.

This Newspapers in Education/Partnership for Young Readers program is designed to promote critical thinking and enhance math and statistical skills, while at the same time encouraging our youth to read. In addition, a Fever coach or player is featured each week, so that the youth can learn more about the Fever team. Co-sponsor of this special newspaper supplement.

JR. NBA / JR. WNBA COACHES CLINIC

For the first year and the first time in the history of the Jr. NBA/Jr. WNBA program, Indiana Pacers Head Coach, Isiah Thomas and Indiana Fever Head Coach, Nell Fortner, joined together to host a Coaches Clinic at Conseco Fieldhouse for area Jr. NBA/Jr. WNBA participating coaches of all levels. The hour and a half clinic taught the fundamentals of basketball, as well as the importance of sportsmanship at a young age. Fever assistant coaches, Shelley Patterson and Julie Plank, along with Fever players, Niele Ivey and Kelly Schumacher, were on hand to assist with the clinic.

WNBA COMMUNITY ASSIST AWARD

TAMIKA CATCHINGS AND REGGIE MILLER OF THE INDIANA PACERS RECEIVE THE NBA COMMUNITY ASSIST AWARD PRIOR TO A PACERS' HOME GAME IN NOVEMBER 2002.

Throughout the 2002 WNBA season, the league selected one player per month from across the league for their Community Assist Award. The Fever's Tamika Catchings was the August winner. In fact, Catchings was selected as the recipient of the award twice for her community outreach this past year.

During the month of August 2002, Catchings visited the Riverside Family Center, an inner city Indianapolis Parks facility that caters to many of the city's young women. The center serves as a source for the inner city teens to expand upon their athletic and academic goals.

Since entering the WNBA, Catchings has regularly visited the Riverside Family Center, as well as Boys & Girls Clubs in the Indianapolis area. She continues to host basketball clinics for local children at both of the community organizations, as well as through her "Catch the Fever" holiday basketball camps and by visiting several youth summer leagues. She also spends time at local Pediatric Cancer Units, spending time with children diagnosed with cancer. In addition, Catchings continues to work with a number of community organizations and charities that work with the hearing impaired. Having overcome a hearing and speech problem during her youth, she reaches out to children facing the same difficulties she dealt with to let them know that they can achieve their goals.

Along with her community visits, Catchings also purchased blocks of tickets for Fever home games during the 2002 season and distributed them to many of the children who attended her camps. For the 2003 season, Catchings will continue to purchase and distribute the blocks of tickets to Fever home games.

In recognition of receiving this award, the WNBA donated $5,000 to a charity of Catchings' choice in her name.

Catchings first won the Off-Season Community Assist Award in June 2002. During the WNBA offseason, Catchings visited over 20 Indianapolis Public Schools as part of the "For Every Victory Earns Respect" (F.E.V.E.R.) speaking tour. In recognition of receiving this award, the WNBA donated $500 in Catchings' name to a charity of her choice.

CATCHINGS WON THE OFF-SEASON COMMUNITY ASSIST AWARD IN JUNE 2002.

Teammate Natalie Williams has also been a recipient of this award, along with Pacers' player Reggie Miller.

In The Community

PACERS FOUNDATION, INC.

Pacers Foundation, Inc., the public charity founded by Pacers Sports & Entertainment, is dedicated to improving the lives of Indiana's young people by building individual and corporate partnerships that will provide assistance for projects that benefit Indiana's youth. Since its inception in 1993, the Pacers Foundation has awarded more than $3 million in cash and in-kind donations through grants to youth-serving organizations, scholarships, and Indiana Pacers and Indiana Fever tickets.

The Pacers Foundation is dedicated to improving the quality of life of youth in the state of Indiana by inspiring and motivating them to become involved in community activities, take their education seriously, set personal goals, actualize their dreams and take responsibility for their own lives and neighborhoods.

During the 2002-03 Pacers season Pacers Foundation, Inc. granted $125,000 to 25 non-profit organizations offering youth programs in Indiana and an additional $12,000 in scholarships. During the 2002 Fever season, the Indiana Fever Fund of the Pacers Foundation granted $15,000 to four non-profit organizations serving young women throughout the state of Indiana.

Throughout the 2002-03 Pacers' and Fever seasons more than $375,000 worth of Indiana Pacers and Indiana Fever tickets were distributed.

For the 2002/2003 Pacers' season, several corporations contributed to the Foundation based on the team's performance:

- Best Access Systems
- Bryant/United Technologies
- Conesco
- Davis Homes

The Pacers Foundation also raises funds to grant back into the community through special events, fundraisers, and individual and corporate contributions. To review the entire list of corporations and individuals who support the Foundation, please refer to the Pacers Foundation annual report or www.pacers-foundation.org.

For more information on the Pacers Foundation, please call (317) 917-2500, email Foundation@Pacers.com, or visit PacersFoundation.org, Pacers.com or ConescoFieldhouse.com and click on the Pacers Foundation link.

WNBA IN THE COMMUNITY

The WNBA connects with fans of all ages through extensive community outreach. As we mark the seventh season of the WNBA, our players continue to be recognized for their commitment and dedication to fans in cities across America. The WNBA has three primary community initiatives: WNBA Mind. Body. Spirit., WNBA Read to Achieve and Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA presented by Gatorade and Nike. In addition to these initiatives, the WNBA honors players who are active in their communities with the WNBA Community Assist Award presented four times a year.

WNBA MIND. BODY. SPIRIT.

The WNBA Mind. Body. Spirit. program is the WNBA's primary cause-related campaign focusing on two main components - Healthy/Fit Families and Positive Self-Image and Breast Health Awareness. The WNBA tipped off the Mind. Body. Spirit. campaign at NBA All-Star in Atlanta with the WNBA Nothing But N.E.T. Challenge, which consisted of several challenges designed to educate and inform kids about the value of being active, eating well and developing a healthy and fit lifestyle.

The WNBA Breast Health Awareness program focuses on increasing public awareness about the importance of early detection of breast cancer and on raising funds to inform and educate women all over the country. Breast health information will be distributed to fans during in-arena awareness nights and a breast health awareness public service announcement will air on nationally televised games and in-arena. Beginning in July, fans can also log onto WNBA.com to bid on their favorite item featured in the Breast Health Awareness Auction.

All proceeds from these items, including games of HORSE with WNBA stars, All-Star memorabilia and WNBA autographed items, will benefit the WNBA's Breast Health Awareness partner.

WNBA READ TO ACHIEVE

WNBA Read to Achieve is a year-round, league-wide initiative that promotes the value of reading and online literacy and encourages families and adults to read regularly with young children. Supported by Reading is Fundamental and Scholastic, Inc., WNBA Read to Achieve promotes reading through in-arena events, public service announcements and school and community appearances throughout the year. WNBA players, coaches and family members also join members of the NBA family on local and national All-Star Reading Teams.

JR. NBA AND JR. WNBA

PRESENTED BY GATORADE AND NIKE

The Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA, presented by Gatorade and Nike, is a support organization for recreational youth basketball leagues in the United States, Canada and abroad that connects players, parents, coaches and officials to heighten awareness and participation in youth basketball. Approximately 1,000 youth basketball leagues and about 50,000 teams (for boys and girls, ages 5-14 years-old) are 2002-2003 Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA members. Additionally, 100,000 coaches and 500,000 players and their parents receive program support and materials. WNBA players and coaches make drop-in visits and participate in special events with Jr. WNBA leagues across the country.

Pacers Academy

On the court, the Indiana Pacers have served as one of most successful franchises in the National Basketball Association, making the playoffs 12 of the last 13 seasons. Off the court, the Pacers have delivered a success of another kind.

On August 23, 2001, the Pacers Academy opened, the first school to be sponsored by team from the NBA (two NFL teams, Seattle and San Francisco have similar programs). With classrooms in downtown Indianapolis' Union Station, the Academy is an alternative middle and secondary school for at-risk students in the Indianapolis Public School system. The Pacers, IPS, the Simon Youth Foundation, the City of Indianapolis and Costco Wholesale are sponsors of the school which serves roughly 100 students in grades 6 through 12 with 70 percent of the enrollment at middle school level. Students study English, math, social studies, physical education and art.

"The Pacers' emphasis has always been the well-being of young people in our community," said team president Donnie Walsh. "We have always been involved in activities that promote opportunity for young people to have better lives. That is what Pacers Academy will provide - greater opportunities for the young people who attend this academy. We hope the rest of the NBA follows our lead."

"The Pacers Academy is an excellent example of cooperation and collaboration between IPS, city government and the Indianapolis business community," said Indianapolis Mayor Bart Peterson. "We believe that many new educational opportunities will be created as a result of this partnership."

The Pacers are partners in the project in much more than name. The franchise will use a variety of its resources, ranging from community partners, corporate sponsors and team personnel, to assist teachers and students in improving in such areas as attendance, academic performance, citizenship and community involvement.

"The kids have definitely shown a lot of interest. They're excited," said Pacers Academy Principal Anita Silverman. "Hearing that it's part of this bigger entity makes them excited. Along with sharing their name with us, the (Pacers) are involving us in a reading program, they're helping us with mentorship and they're giving us incentives."

"A lot of people thought the Pacers were just money behind it, and they've proven to be so much more. We're in their hearts. We are part of who they are. They believe in our kids. They want to help our kids succeed."

The middle school curriculum features participation in service-learning projects such as Habitat for Humanity, and emphasizes interdisciplinary and thematic units as well as skill development.

High school students participate in career internships with local businesses, which will include Pacers Sports & Entertainment. A computer-based curriculum allows students to work independently and also includes career-development courses used for teaching marketable skills.

Classes begin at 10:00 a.m. and run through 5:00 p.m.

A key element in pulling it all together is developing close relationships not only with the students, but with their parents or guardians.

"We had a planning meeting where I invited all the parents," said Silverman. "I stressed that we are building a community. We're not just educating your children, we're educating your children along with you."

"There's been so much blame: It's the school's fault, it's the parents' fault, it's the child's fault. It's nobody's fault. It's our responsibility to make this work, and the only way we can do that is to have a Pacers Academy family and we're already seeing that happening."

The Pacers have developed a full menu of ways to assist students. The franchise is offering:

- Mentoring opportunities;
- Job shadowing;
- Tours of and classes at Conseco Fieldhouse;
- Merchandise and tickets for rewards and incentives;
- Guest appearances by Pacers and Fever players and coaches;
- Volunteer opportunities;
- Social gatherings and functions;
- Internships.

Though the Pacers and Fever have been heavily involved in a variety of community relations projects over the years, the Pacers Academy represents a substantial commitment.

With seven licensed teachers on staff and an enrollment that has a maximum of 105, the teacher-student ratio is a relatively low 1:15, encouraging more one-on-one interaction.

Students who have experienced difficulty with attendance and grades in traditional school settings may apply for admission to the school. Their consideration is a joint decision based on parent, student and school recommendation, and includes a mandatory interview with each student and a parent or guardian. Students who have been expelled from IPS schools will not be considered.

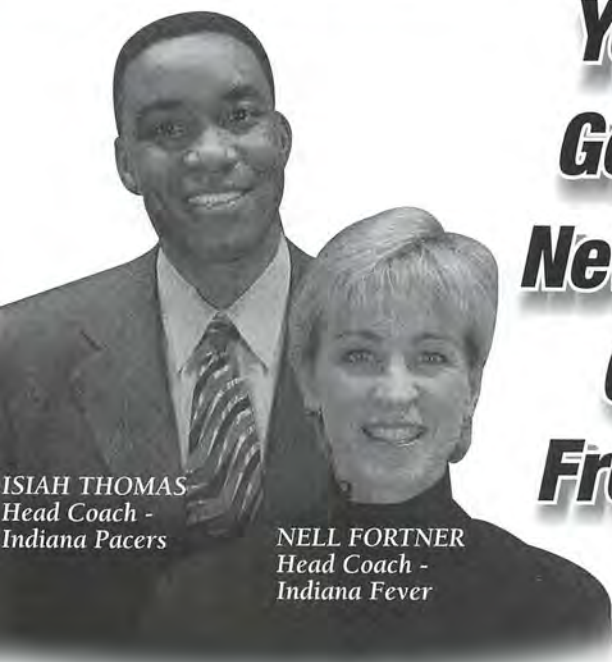

"IPS is pleased to be home to this innovative school," said Superintendent Duncan N.P. Pritchett Jr. "This extraordinary partnership will provide our students not only a strong academic foundation, but hands-on opportunities to gain career experience. Through the service-learning component, our students will become contributing members of our community while they are young and hopefully will develop a taste for community service that will last a lifetime."

PS&E AT PACERS ACADEMY

As part of Pacers Sports & Entertainment's commitment to the Pacers Academy, PS&E staff members began mentoring to a group of students at the Academy during the past school year.

Each week, PS&E staff met with six students from the Academy to discuss a variety of topics important to today's teens and to implement the TALKS curriculum. The goal of TALKS is to structure opportunities for constructive dialogue between mature, adult role models and youth by creating networks between schools, communities and churches that will provide instruction in moral ethical and responsible living.

MEL SIMON

OWNER/
PACERS SPORTS & ENTERTAINMENT

A native of Brooklyn, N.Y., Melvin Simon is Co-Chairman of the Indianapolis-based real estate development and management company, Simon Property Group. Simon Property Group is the largest Real and Retail Estate Investment Trust in the world.

In addition, he serves as Co-Chairman of the Board of Melvin Simon & Associates, Inc., which, until the formation of Simon Property

Group in 1993, was the nation's largest developer and manager of shopping centers.

Mr. Simon attended the Bronx High School of Science and the City College of New York where he earned a B.S. degree in accounting. He came to Indiana while serving in the U.S. Army when a transfer brought him to Fort Benjamin Harrison in Indianapolis.

Following his discharge from the Army and prior to creating the company, Melvin Simon & Associates, in 1960 in Indianapolis with brothers Herbert and Fred, Mr. Simon worked as a leasing representative with the Albert Frankel Company, an Indianapolis developer of strip shopping centers.

Mr. Simon is a former Trustee of the Urban Land Institute (ULI) and a former Trustee of the International Council of Shopping Centers (ICSC). He holds board memberships with numerous community and civic organizations, and has received many awards and honors for his involvement. Together, Mr. Simon and his wife Bren have four children.

HERB SIMON

OWNER/
PACERS SPORTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Born in Brooklyn, New York and raised in the Bronx, Mr. Simon earned his bachelors degree at City College of New York. Herbert Simon is Co-Chairman of Simon Property Group, which owns or has interest in nearly 240 shopping centers throughout the country.

Mr. Simon also serves as Co-Chairman of Melvin Simon & Assoc., Inc. which, prior to the formation of Simon Property

Group, was the largest shopping center developer and manager in the nation and is still a privately owned company.

Mr. Simon, along with his brother Melvin, has maintained a leadership position within the industry since 1960 developing several "breakthrough" retail projects which have drawn worldwide industry and media attention. Mall of America in Minneapolis, Minnesota was opened in 1992. The Forum Shops at Caesars in Las Vegas, Nevada was also opened in 1992 and enjoys the distinction of being one of the most successful shopping centers in the United States. Circle Center in Indianapolis was developed in 1995 and was one of the key components in the revitalization of the city's downtown.

A firm supporter of professional, environmental and community groups, Mr. Simon has served on the boards of numerous organizations and served a term as Chairman of the NBA Board of Governors.

Mr. Simon is married and has five children.

FEVER FRONT OFFICE

President / Pacers Sports & Entertainment

DONNIE WALSH

PRESIDENT/ PACERS SPORTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Not only has Donnie Walsh been an assistant coach, general manager and now, team president, for the Indiana Pacers, he has been the franchise's builder and believer.

On and off the court.

In the last eight years, the Pacers have become one of the NBA's elite teams, reaching the NBA Finals in 2000, reaching the Eastern Conference Finals five times and winning three Central Division Championships. Consider that when Walsh took over the Pacers as general manager in April 1986, the team was coming off a 26-56 season and had reached the playoffs only once in 10 NBA seasons. Under Walsh's guidance, the Pacers have now reached the playoffs 13 of the last 14 years and he has also brought three of the game's most respected names, Larry Brown, Larry Bird and Isiah Thomas (all Hall of Famers), in to coach the team.

His ability to mold the Pacers into one of the top franchises, while continually keeping the team competitive, earned him recognition in the 2000-01 season from Bloomberg News Service as the NBA's top basketball executive in a vote of the league's coaches.

In 2000-01, Walsh proved himself again. With three starters from the 2000 NBA Finals team gone (Rik Smits retired, Mark Jackson left via free agency and Dale Davis was traded for Jermaine O'Neal), the Pacers, under Thomas in his first season, finished the year 41-41 to again make the playoffs. This past season, Walsh orchestrated a trade that brought Ron Artest, Ron Mercer, Brad Miller and Kevin Ollie to the team in exchange for Jalen Rose, Travis Best and Norm Richardson. The trade made the Pacers the youngest team in the NBA, yet they remained competitive and are set up for continued runs to the playoffs in the future.

During the summer of 1999, Walsh's duties and responsibilities grew when the Pacers were awarded an expansion franchise in the WNBA. His guidance and knowledge of the game enabled him to assemble one of the finest front offices in the WNBA. After being awarded the franchise, Walsh immediately began the search to find a qualified person to run the team. With her experience in the WNBA's league office as Director of Basketball Operations in 1997 and 1998, Walsh hired Kelly Krauskopf as the team's first Chief Operating Officer.

"There's a subculture within the WNBA that I'm not aware of and I think you have to recognize that," Walsh said. "Some teams in the WNBA have tried to use their NBA basketball operations staff to run their teams and I don't know if that will work. We wanted to bring in someone who's committed to the game and league and we found that in Kelly."

With the Pacers, the 1999-2000 season was one of the more interesting, yet impressive, trips to the postseason. In June, the Pacers traded veteran Antonio Davis to Toronto for the draft rights to a talented high school player, Jonathon Bender, the fifth overall pick in the NBA draft. Many predicted the Pacers to not only finish low in the Eastern Conference, but in the bottom half of the Central Division.

At season's end, the Pacers had not only won the Central for the second straight year, but for the first time in franchise history had compiled the best outright record in the Eastern Conference at 56-26. That mark was also the Pacers' second-best overall record (58-24 in 1997-98) in the team's NBA history. The Pacers also tied a league-best (with the L.A. Lakers) 36-5 record at home that included a 25-game home winning streak, both franchise records.

In the playoffs, the Pacers beat Milwaukee and Philadelphia before meeting their old nemesis, the New York Knicks, in the Eastern Conference Finals. But there, the Pacers won their first-ever Eastern Conference Championship in six games and advanced to the NBA Finals for the first time where they fell to the Los Angeles Lakers in six games for the world championship.

"My personal goal for the Pacers' franchise was to always be included in the great tradition of Indiana basketball with both high school and college," said Walsh. "Our reaching the NBA Finals and reaching the Conference Finals five out of seven years is a point of excellence that I think puts us in that category of Indiana basketball and reflects well on the basketball in this state. I think we're now firmly part of that mix and I feel good about that. But the ultimate goal is still to win a championship. "Off the court, Walsh oversaw another building process. As the Pacers headed toward the next century, the need for a new arena in downtown Indianapolis was becoming more and more evident. In 1994, after the Pacers reached the Eastern Conference Finals for the first time, he began quiet discussions with city leaders.

On July 22, 1997, ground was broken.

Today, 18,345-seat Conseco Fieldhouse fits neatly into place in downtown Indianapolis, the NBA and with Indiana's rich basketball tradition for a very unique trifecta. The retro-style, multi-purpose facility has drawn rave reviews for its blending of the modern amenities - such as suites and club seats - with attention to the basketball heritage of Indiana and ensuring that all fans are at home in what is truly a basketball house. It is a basketball destination and a tourist attraction.

In the 1999-2000 season and postseason, the Pacers sold out every game in the Fieldhouse, the first time that has been done in franchise history. In the 1999-2000 season, the only other NBA teams to sell out every home game were the Chicago Bulls and New York Knicks.

"I think it culminates all of our dreams for the Pacers, but I think it also encompasses everything that is Indiana basketball to me," said Walsh. "That was our goal when we started this and I'm talking about when we started back in 1986 to build a team. We wanted the team to be a part of the tradition of Indiana basketball, which it really hadn't been up until that point in the NBA. It has been a long process over many years, but I think it culminates with Conseco Fieldhouse because it kind of embodies it."

On both counts of building the Pacers and Conseco Fieldhouse, it took a believer. Walsh fits that mold perfectly.

In 1986, the Pacers were struggling. They had lost two key players, Clark Kellogg and Steve Stipanovich, to career-ending knee injuries. But Walsh, rarely taking a day off in his 16 years on the job, believed he could turn the franchise around. And he has.

Starting with his first draft, Walsh took Chuck Person, who went on to become Rookie of the Year. Person, with Detlef Schrempf, acquired by Walsh in a trade, and a young gun named Reggie Miller who was drafted by Walsh, led the Pacers to the first of many memorable playoff series, a five-game loss to Larry Bird and the Boston Celtics in 1991.

In 1993, Walsh hired Brown as coach and in 1994 they reached the Eastern Conference Finals before losing to New York in seven games. In 1995, the Pacers again reached the East Finals (losing to Orlando), but they had their first 50-win NBA season and won their first NBA banner, the Central Division championship.

The 1996 playoff run was cut short by Atlanta in the first round, but Miller missed the first four games of that series with an eye injury. In 1997, the Pacers slipped to 39-43 and didn't make the playoffs for the first time in seven seasons, due to injuries to Rik Smits, Derrick McKey and key backup, Haywoode Workman. Brown resigned in April, but Walsh - thinking ahead as always - had a high-profile replacement ready, the legendary Bird.

The Pacers finished the 1997-98 season with an NBA team record 58 victories and their 58-24 record provided a .707 winning percentage, the best in franchise history. They also went the last 63 games of the regular season without losing two straight games. Also that season, the Pacers compiled the best record in the East at the All-Star break, earning the coaching staff of Bird and assistants Dick Harter and Rick Carlisle, All-Star coaching honors. They were joined in New York by Miller and Smits, only the second time in team history the Pacers had two NBA All-Stars. Bird eventually was named Coach of the Year and the Pacers extended the eventual World Champion Chicago Bulls to seven games before losing in the Eastern Conference Finals.

Then, in 1998-99, the Pacers tied for the best record in the Eastern Conference (33-17), won their second Central Division championship and their winning percentage of .660 was the second-highest in their NBA history. With Conseco Fieldhouse rising in the Indianapolis skyline, Walsh has seen two projects reach prominence.

"Looking back at it, I'm glad we've been able to get the team to the point where it is," he said. "There's great satisfaction in doing that. As for Conseco Fieldhouse, I get the feeling of accomplishment in the sense that after being here for so many years, if I have a part in this building it's that it is something permanent. I can look back on and think, 'Well, I had something to do with that.'"

The 61-year-old (3/1/41) Walsh has also seen fan appreciation rise during his tenure. Attendance in Market Square Arena was the highest in franchise history the last 12 seasons before the record-breaking move to the Fieldhouse, capped by 1995-96 in which the Pacers had a record average of 16,438, that included 29 sellouts and a season-ending run of 13 straight sellouts. In 1997-98, fans filled MSA to 96 percent of its capacity and in its last season an average of 16,182 (98 percent capacity) visited MSA. In 25 home dates in the 1998-99 season, the Pacers had 15 sellouts.

Walsh, who in 1988 was named president of the Pacers Basketball Corporation (now Pacers Sports & Entertainment which runs the Pacers, the WNBA's Indiana Fever, the Pacers Foundation and also directs the management of Conseco Fieldhouse), has spent his life in and around basketball.

An outstanding high school player in New York City, Walsh played at North Carolina under Frank McGuire and Dean Smith. After graduating with a bachelor of arts degree in political science, Walsh attended the North Carolina Law School and helped coach the Tar Heels' freshman team for two seasons.

After graduating from law school and turning down offers from then former Vice President Richard Nixon's law firm in New York City and the U.S. Justice Department's Honors programs, he took a graduate coaching position under Smith at North Carolina and then became an associate head coach under McGuire at South Carolina. In 1977, Walsh was about to enter private law practice in South Carolina, but Brown, the head coach of the Denver Nuggets, asked Walsh to join him as an assistant. Walsh stayed with the Nuggets as an assistant coach and a head coach before entering private business in 1982.

But in 1984, Walsh was back in basketball as a Pacers' assistant to George Irvine. He remained on the bench until becoming general manager two years later. He has since been a member of the U.S. Olympic Games Committee for men's basketball for Dream Teams I and II, a member of the WNBA Operating Committee and was recently named to the NBA's Special Committee on Rules.

Walsh's knowledge, professionalism, accessibility and courtesy are highly-recognized throughout the NBA by players, coaches, front office personnel and the media. He is also a respected member of the Indianapolis community, serving on the boards of many charities.

He and his wife, Judy, both natives of New York, have five children and live in Indianapolis. They also have two dogs, Murph and Belle.

KELLY KRAUSKOPF

SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT/FEVER BASKETBALL
CHIEF OPERATING OFFICER

Kelly Krauskopf begins her fourth season as the Fever's Chief Operating Officer and the first as Senior Vice President of Fever Basketball for Pacers Sports & Entertainment.

Since 1999, Krauskopf has been the guiding force of the Fever from building the team roster to building a fan base for Indiana's WNBA franchise. In her role with the Fever, Krauskopf oversees all aspects of the team operation.

Since moving to Indianapolis and beginning the task of building a WNBA franchise, Krauskopf has engineered numerous player moves enabling the Fever to improve the team – among them, a mid-season move during the 2002 campaign which brought veteran guard Coquese Washington to the Fever to ignite a late run to the franchise's first appearance in the WNBA Playoffs.

In consultation with Head Coach and General Manager Nell Fortner, Krauskopf has orchestrated other moves in building the Fever:

- In March 2002, Krauskopf engineered a trade which allowed the Fever to acquire a 2002 first-round draft pick and guard Bridget Pettis, a five-year veteran of the WNBA who boasts the most experience on the Fever's young and talented roster.

- In December 2001, Krauskopf orchestrated a deal with the Washington Mystics to bring three-time WNBA All-Star Nikki McCray to the Fever to complete one of the strongest back courts in the league with McCray, Catchings and Rita Williams on the perimeter. Williams was dealt a year later to make room for Washington.

- In May 2001, the Fever made a trade with Detroit for veteran center Olympia Scott-Richardson, a player that started 30 games and led the Fever in rebounding a team-high 12 times. That only led to Scott-Richardson's finest professional season in 2002, setting career highs in scoring (9.4), rebounding (6.8), steals (1.23), and field goal percentage (.487).

- In April 2001, Krauskopf and the Fever coaching staff began its quest for building a playoff team when they acquired Tamika Catchings in the first round (3rd overall) in the 2001 WNBA Draft. An injury forced the college senior to miss her first pro season, but the franchise's investment has already paid large dividends.

From concept to reality, Krauskopf has been in the forefront of the development of the WNBA. In September 1996, she was named the WNBA's first Director of Basketball Operations. In that role, she was involved in all phases of the league's start-up operation and initiatives. She also developed the league's first set of playing rules, officiating policies, scheduling and other league standards, while working daily with WNBA team general managers and operations personnel.

Before joining the WNBA, Krauskopf was the Managing Director of League Development for Media Sports Partnership, Limited in Dallas, Tex. In that capacity, her responsibilities included researching and analyzing the feasibility of a women's professional basketball league and developing a league business plan and marketing strategy.

From 1990 to 1994, she was Assistant Commissioner for the Southwest Conference. In addition to overseeing league marketing, she was the chief administrator for all eight women's sports programs in the conference. She served from 1986 to 1990 as Texas A&M's Assistant Athletic Director for Women's Sports/Marketing.

Krauskopf has previously served on committees for the Women's Sports Foundation; the Women's Basketball Coaches Association; Citizenship for Sports Alliance; Texas A&M's Lettermen's Association Board of Directors; the Dallas Mayor's Task Force for the Southwest Conference Tournament and the City of Dallas Re-location Task Force for the Women's Sports Foundation.

A 1983 graduate of Texas A&M University, she was a three-year letterwinner in basketball for the Lady Aggies after transferring from Stephen F. Austin University where she played her freshman year under legendary coach Sue Gunter.

FEVER FRONT OFFICE

Fever Staff

KEVIN MESSENGER

DIRECTOR OF MEDIA RELATIONS

Moving from college to pro sports this season is Kevin Messenger, the Fever's director of media relations, responsible for all duties related to the team's publicity, media operations and information.

A native of Denver, Colo., Messenger attended the University of the Pacific in Stockton, Calif., before embarking on a 16-year professional career which has included collegiate stints at UNLV, Indiana State, Pacific and Maryland. Most recently, he worked with the Maryland football and women's basketball teams in 1998 and 1999 before directing media efforts for three seasons with the Terrapins' nationally prominent men's basketball program.

While at Maryland, he worked in a media market comprising the Baltimore and Washington, D.C. metro areas – the largest media concentration of its kind among U.S. colleges. He twice attended the Final Four with the Terrapin basketball team while working daily with local, regional and national media outlets.

He has worked with baseball, basketball, football, golf, soccer, water polo and volleyball teams during his career. He boasts distinction as having been a part of three NCAA championship teams – 1985 and 1986 Pacific women's volleyball, and 2002 Maryland men's basketball.

This is Messenger's second career stop in Indianapolis, having spent three years in Indy from 1995 to 1998, working with U.S. Water Polo and a professional indoor soccer franchise, the Indiana Twisters, before making a return to college athletics.

Messenger received a bachelor's degree in communications from UOP in 1987. His career began as an assistant sports information director at UNLV in summer of 1987. He was hired as the SID at Indiana State University in 1989, and made a return to his alma mater for a four-year stint from 1991-95.

LORI SATTERFIELD

DIRECTOR OF COMMUNITY RELATIONS

Lori Satterfield joined the Indiana Fever in October 1999 as the Director of Community Relations. She is responsible for overseeing all aspects of the team's programs and fan services – including autographs, donations, appearances and fan mail. Satterfield coordinates the involvement of the coaches and players in the community and conducts basketball clinics and seminars pertaining to WNBA league initiatives.

Before joining the Fever, Satterfield was the manager of corporate marketing for the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA). She was responsible for overseeing all marketing aspects of several NCAA corporate partnerships – including Hershey, American Express, Duracell, KFC, Champion International and Taco Bell.

Before her work experience at the NCAA, the Indianapolis native held broadcasting and advertising positions with the Los Angeles Sparks of the WNBA and the Indiana Pacers of the NBA. Her responsibilities included the production of formats for radio and television broadcasts, the creation and development of radio and television promotions and maintenance of video game-footage highlights.

Satterfield earned a master's degree in business administration from Pepperdine University's Graziadio School of Business and a bachelor of arts degree in Radio/Television from Southern Methodist University.

RICK FUSON

EXECUTIVE SR. VICE PRESIDENT/
EXEC. DIRECTOR OF CONSECO FIELDHOUSE

Since joining the Pacers' organization in 1984, Rick Fuson, 49, (6/12/53) has been instrumental in shaping events within Market Square Arena, Conseco Fieldhouse and many other events elsewhere in Indianapolis.

A graduate of Indiana University and a life-long resident of Indianapolis, he joined the staff of Market Square Arena in 1984 as director of special events and was promoted the following year to vice president. Fuson helped oversee the Pacers' move to Conseco Fieldhouse in September, 2000 and was promoted to Executive Senior Vice President of Pacers Sports & Entertainment in November, 2001. In his current role, Fuson is responsible for execution of all aspects of the business side of Pacers Sports & Entertainment in addition to his role as Executive Director of Conseco Fieldhouse.

Through the years, Fuson has been active in pursuing major events for Conseco Fieldhouse and the City of Indianapolis. In the past, he was a member of the Executive Committee for the 1991 World Gymnastics Championships and served as chairman for the opening ceremonies. He was co-chairman of special events for the 1991, 1997 and 2000 NCAA Final Four. He produced the opening ceremonies of the 2001 World Police & Fire Games and the closing ceremonies of the Pan American Games in 1987. Fuson also served on the Local Organizing Committee for the 2002 Big Ten Basketball Championships and 2002 FIBA World Basketball Championships. He currently serves on the Local Organizing Committee for the 2004 World Swimming Championships. He will serve on the Local Organizing Committee for the 2005 NCAA Women's Basketball Championship.

Throughout his career, he has received such honors as Recipient of the Indianapolis Ambassadors 1988 Community Service Award, Indianapolis Business Journal's "Who's Who in Hospitality," "Who's Who in Sports" and "Forty Under Forty." He has also been active with the Indianapolis Fellowship of Christian Athletes, the 1985 NBA All-Star weekend, the grand opening of the Indianapolis Zoo in 1988, the White River Park State Games and Indianapolis Downtown Space 2010.

Fuson is a professional member of the International Association of Assembly Managers. He also is a member of the executive committee of the Indiana Sports Corporation, I.A.T.S.E., Local #30 Health and Welfare Fund and Pacers Foundation.

He is married to 1988 Olympic Gymnast Kelly Garrison and has three children, Amy, Emily and Matthew.

KEVIN BOWER

SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT/FINANCE/
CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER

Kevin Bower is in his second year with Pacers Sports & Entertainment as the organization's Senior Vice President of Finance and Chief Financial Officer.

Bower came to PS&E in January 2002, from Jarden Corporation, a publicly traded manufacturer and distributor of home food preservation products and a variety of other materials based products including injection molded and thermoformed plastic parts, zinc strip and fabricated parts including coin blanks. He spent nine years at Jarden and most recently served as Senior Vice President and Chief Financial Officer.

Bower started his career in 1980 with Schneider & Shuster, a locally-based public accounting firm in Denver, Colorado. After five years in Denver he returned to Indiana where he continued his career in public accounting with Price Waterhouse.

Bower, 44, (7/20/58) was born in Fort Wayne, Ind. and grew up in South Bend, Ind. He attended Bentley College in Waltham, Mass., on a full basketball scholarship and graduated with a BS in accounting. He is married to Maureen and they have three children, Erin, Megan and Kevin. Bower is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Indiana CPA Society. He serves on the Board of Directors of Pathway Family Center, and in his spare time is a volunteer basketball and baseball coach and enjoys golf and traveling.

LARRY MAGO

SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT/ MARKETING

Larry Mago recently took over the duties of Sr. Vice President of Marketing after spending three years as Pacers Sports & Entertainment's Vice President of Entertainment.

Mago joined the Pacers in 1985 as General Manager of the Pacers' Network Indiana, a 50-station statewide radio network. In 1988, Mago assumed the title of Broadcast Production Director. As the director, he produced Pacers Television and radio and coordinated the production services for all the television coverage of NBA and WNBA games.

His experience with the Pacers has included directing live Pacers' coverage of the 1996 preseason in Germany and Spain, directing the 1992 NBA Finals World Feed, and this past summer he was the Executive Producer of the Host Broadcast of the 2002 FIBA World Basketball Championship held in Indianapolis. He was also a charter member of the NBA Broadcast Advisory Board.

The 44-year-old Mago (12/1/58) started his career as an on-air broadcaster for several radio stations, including the Pacers' Flagship station, WIBC. At WIBC, Mago served the capacity of program manager and helped establish the first Indianapolis Colts network.

A native of suburban New York City, he graduated from Butler University in 1979. He and his wife, Johanna, currently reside in Indianapolis and have one daughter, Emily.

DAVID MORWAY

SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT/ PACERS BASKETBALL

David Morway is starting his fifth full season with the Pacers, having joined the franchise in February 1999. As Sr. Vice President of Basketball Administration, Morway's responsibilities include the overseeing of pro, college and international scouting, as well the administration of the Pacers' basketball department.

The 43-year-old Morway (11/9/59) has a vast sports background. He served as Assistant to the President for the San Diego Padres from 1985-88, where he was involved in contract analysis and negotiation. He also designed and implemented programs in player relations, team employee assistance and customer relations.

From 1988-95, Morway started and was president of Professional Excellence in Sports, Inc. (Pro Ex), a sports management firm. Morway represented more than 75 clients, including David Benoit, former first-round pick Ed Gray, former Pacers' player Micheal Williams, Junior Seau, Darren Woodson, Chris Naeole and Tony Clark.

Pro Ex was incorporated into DSM International in 1995 and Morway remained with the company until 1998.

A 1982 graduate of the University of Arizona, Morway also has a law degree from the University of San Diego. He is married to Karen and they have two sons, Robbie and Michael.

NELL FORTNER HEAD COACH

Regarded as one of the brightest young women's basketball coaches in the country, Nell Fortner is in her third season at the helm of the Indiana Fever. Albeit brief in longevity, her head coaching resume is dotted with success and experience that is already matched by few in her profession. Since her first coaching assignment in 1983-84, she has achieved continuous success throughout her 19-year career at the high school, college, pro and international coaching levels.

Since her first college coaching assignment in 1986-87, she has experienced a season with fewer wins than losses just once. While helping guide the WNBA's Fever as its head coach and general manager, she lifted the upstart franchise during the 2002 season to a .500 record and the club's first playoff appearance in history. Enjoying her dual role as the franchise's head coach and general manager, she continues to work alongside Chief Operating Officer Kelly Krauskopf to build what Indiana executives hope will become continued playoff appearances.

A renowned coaching clinician and motivational speaker, and a respected TV analyst, her professional profile has risen beyond that of a coach. Her engaging personality, along with a crisp analysis and understanding of the game's players, coaches and issues, has helped her forge a regular role during ESPN's women's college basketball coverage. Since 2001, she has served as the cable network's studio analyst during the winter season and through each of the past three NCAA Tournaments.

Fortner formally began her career in pro basketball on Aug. 17, 1999 when she was named head coach of the Indiana Fever. Already committed to her post as the coach of the United States Olympic Team however, she coached the USA to a gold medal at the 2000 Olympic Games in Sydney, Australia, before joining the Fever for the 2001 campaign.

Her stint with the Fever marks her second career stop in the Hoosier State. Fortner was named by Basketball Times as the national coach of the year in the college ranks in 1997, after leading Purdue to a share of the Big Ten regular season title with a team that returned just four players. Fortner guided the Boilermakers to a 12-4 conference mark and a 17-11 record overall, advancing to the second round of the NCAA Tournament where they were eliminated in overtime by eventual NCAA runner-up Old Dominion.

Fortner joined the Boilermakers after a season with the USA Women's National Team Program. One year later, she rejoined the USA Basketball staff when she was tabbed to guide the country's women's basketball fortunes into the next quadrennium. She was named as head coach of the Women's National Team Program on April 1, 1997, boasting impressive credentials as both a former player and coach within the USA program.

Upon her naming as the USA coach, she spent three years traveling the globe, coaching 10 different U.S. squads to an impressive 93-14 (.869) overall record before capturing her most prized title while in Sydney. From gold at the '98 World Championships to gold in 2000 in Sydney, Fortner led the U.S. Women's National Program to a 101-14 three-year record, the most wins of any coach in Women's USA Basketball history.

Her first experience with USA Basketball, sandwiched between college stints at Louisiana Tech and Purdue, served as a preview of things to come. Beginning in summer 1995, Fortner served as an assistant for two seasons to 1996 Olympic mentor Tara VanDerveer — overseeing the national team's weights and conditioning program and the development of perimeter players, as well as the scouting of opponents and video game analysis. Team USA posted an amazing 52-0 run that culminated with a gold medal at the 1996 Olympic Games in Atlanta. One year later, Fortner was named to succeed VanDerveer as the U.S. head coach.

Before venturing into the world of Olympic basketball and the WNBA, Fortner had long been regarded as one of the country's finest college assistants, combining nine seasons between longtime women's powers Louisiana Tech and Stephen F. Austin.

A 1982 graduate of the University of Texas and a Mississippi native, Fortner began her coaching career as the girls basketball coach at Killeen High School in Texas. She turned to the college ranks as a graduate assistant at Stephen F. Austin during the 1986-87 campaign while completing a master's degree in education. She later spent three seasons as an assistant coach at SFA, helping guide the Ladyjacks to a remarkable 87-12 (.879) record and three straight NCAA Tournament appearances.

She joined the staff at Louisiana Tech as an assistant for five years beginning in the 1990-91 season. Under the direction of hall of fame coach Leon Barmore, the Lady Techsters made five straight NCAA Tournament appearances during Fortner's tenure, including a trip to the national championship game in 1994. The Lady Techsters logged a sparkling 123-37 (.794) record during those five seasons.

Including her season as head coach at Purdue, Fortner's college teams made nine consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances and tallied a 10-year college record of 252-66 (.792).

Herself a standout player at Texas from 1978-81, Fortner helped guide the Longhorns to a 127-26 record during her four college seasons. She led Texas to its first national ranking in women's basketball and a seventh-place finish at the AIAW national tournament — and helped pave the trail for one of the country's most storied programs. Her 1,466 career points are among the top scoring leaders in school history, and her 142 games played still are fourth in Texas annals. Further, as a middle hitter, she also helped lead the Texas volleyball team to the 1981 AIAW national championship.

She made her USA Basketball debut as a member of the silver medal-winning 1978 U.S. Olympic Festival South Team, averaging 6.0 points and 4.3 rebounds a game.

Fortner was appointed to the University of Texas Women's Athletics Wall of Honor in November 2001. A graduate of New Braunfels High School where she was an all-state basketball selection and a Parade All-American, she was named to the Texas Sports Hall of Fame during the same month.

Fortner resides in Indianapolis with Holly, Peyton and Tate, a Yorkshire Terrier, a golden retriever and a hound mix that are huge Fever fans!

MEET THE FEVER

Assistant Coaches

JULIE PLANK

ASSISTANT COACH

Julie Plank is in her fourth season with the Indiana Fever as an assistant coach and director of scouting.

Prior to joining the Fever, Plank assisted with the USA Women's National Team and this past offseason continued with the team, joining head coach Nell Fortner, as an assistant at the 2000 Olympic Games in Sydney, Australia.

From 1997-99, Plank, an 18-year coaching veteran, served as an associate head coach at Vanderbilt University where she directed the school's recruiting and scouting efforts and acted as the lead assistant during games.

At Vanderbilt, she was ranked as the fifth best NCAA Division I assistant coach in the nation by Women's Basketball Journal in 1998. Plank joined the Commodores' staff after spending 10 years (1986-1995) on the sidelines at Stanford University as an assistant to 1996 gold medal-winning Olympic head coach Tara VanDerveer. Reunited with her collegiate head mentor, she helped direct the Cardinal to eight consecutive NCAA Tournaments (1988-95), four Final Four appearances (1990-92, 1995) and two NCAA championships (1990, 1992). While helping Stanford to a 251-62 (.802) overall record, Plank's duties included overseeing the Cardinal's scheduling, scouting and conditioning efforts, in addition to working closely with the development of the team's guards.

Plank began her assistant coaching career at Capital University (Ohio) in 1984, where she spent two years as an assistant, helping Capital to a 38-9 record (.809). Overall, she has helped three different schools to a 343-104 record (.767).

A native of Columbus, Ohio, Plank played four years at Ohio State University. She attended Bishop Hartley High School and led her team to two Ohio State High School Championships. In February 2001, the school retired her No. 13 jersey in honor of her accomplishments.

SHELLEY PATTERSON

ASSISTANT COACH

Shelley Patterson is in her fourth season with the Fever after being hired by the Fever's inaugural season head coach Anne Donovan in January 2000.

During the 1998-99 basketball season, Patterson was Donovan's assistant coach with the Philadelphia Rage of the American Basketball League (ABL). Patterson helped guide the Rage to a 9-5 record before the league ceased operations in December 1998.

Prior to joining the Fever staff, Patterson spent the 1999 WNBA season as an operations assistant with the Houston Comets. She helped guide the Comets to a league-best 26-6 regular season record and the team's third straight WNBA championship.

A 12-year coaching veteran either on the professional level or NCAA Division I level, Patterson began her coaching career at Indiana State University in 1989 as a recruiting coordinator. Over the course of her career, she has served on the bench at Ohio University, the University of Arizona, Wake Forest University and the University of Dayton.

Patterson was a four-year starting point guard at Washington State University from 1979-1983, where she received a B.A. in criminal justice.

Training Staff

HOLLY HEITZMAN-ALLISON ATHLETIC TRAINER

Holly Heitzman-Allison is in her fourth season as the Fever's Head Athletic Trainer.

Working fulltime at the St. Vincent Sports Medicine Clinic, Heitzman-Allison has been with the Fever since the team's inaugural season. Heitzman-Allison has worked at the clinic for the past nine years, serving as an athletic trainer, Clinic

Director, and most recently, Sports Medicine Coordinator.

She brings over 17 years of applied athletic training experience to the Fever as she has worked with athletes ranging from the high school level through the professional ranks.

The Cincinnati native completed her undergraduate degree at Eastern Kentucky University and her masters of science degree at Syracuse University. These universities are known to have two of the most highly regarded athletic training programs in the nation.

Prior to moving to Indianapolis, she worked in sports medicine clinics and with amateur and professional teams in San Diego, Calif. and New York State.

Heitzman-Allison and her husband, Dan, live in Indianapolis.

GREG MOORE STRENGTH & CONDITIONING COACH

Greg Moore is in his fourth season as the Fever's Strength and Conditioning Coach.

As the Director of Athletic Performance for The National Institute for Fitness and Sport (NIFS) in Indianapolis, Moore designs, supervises and administers strength, speed, power and agility programs for more than 400 athletes per year.

Moore has held his current position at NIFS since 1998 and has been with the organization since 1993.

He holds certificates and memberships with the National Strength and Conditioning Association, American College of Sports Medicine and the American Heart Association.

Along with his other various duties at NIFS, Moore coordinates and leads Speed and Power Camps to athletes of all ages.

The University of Sioux Falls (SD) graduate is from Beresford, S.D.

He lives in Indianapolis with his wife, Val. They have a daughter, Olivia.

YEAR IN REVIEW

YEAR IN REVIEW

2002 Recap

In its third season of existence, the Indiana Fever qualified for the Women's National Basketball Association (WNBA) playoffs for the first time in its history. At the same time, a rookie named Tamika Catchings took the WNBA by storm, winning rookie of the year honors and finishing second in balloting for the league's MVP award.

Catchings led the Fever in points (18.6), rebounds (8.6), assists (3.7), steals (2.9) and blocks (1.3), while the Fever won six of its final seven regular season games to earn a No. 4 seed in the Eastern Conference semifinals. Eastern Conference champion New York ended the Indiana run with a 2-1 victory in the WNBA playoffs, but not before enthusiasm and momentum gripped the Indianapolis franchise as it headed to its fourth season in 2003.

ALL-STAR CATCH

Tamika Catchings not only led the Fever in virtually every statistical category and rewrote the Indiana record book, she was so dominant in her rookie season that she finished fifth or better in the entire league in points (2nd), rebounds (4th), steals (1st), free throws (3rd) and minutes (2nd) per game. She was sixth in blocks per game, and 10th in assists. In her first pro season, she was third in the WNBA with 12 double-doubles. Only Sheryl Swoopes of Houston contributed a greater percentage of her team's points (28.6 percent) than Catchings did for Indiana (28.3).

UNLEASHING TAMIKA

Averaging 18.6 points per game, Tamika Catchings ranked second in the WNBA in scoring. In the 20 games (including playoffs) in which she scored at least her average, the Fever was 14-6 while averaging 23.6 ppg. In the other 15 games, the Fever were 2-13 with Catchings averaging 12.1 ppg.

UNCHARTED TERRITORY

Tamika Catchings was in a class all by herself statistically. It took Catchings just 28 games to become the first player in WNBA history to make over 60 3-pt FGs and register more than 80 steals in a season. She finished the season with 76 3-pt FG and 94 steals.

POINTING FORWARD AT GUARD

Indiana finished the season 9-4 following its trade with Houston on July 20 which brought Coquese Washington to the Fever. With Washington in the starting lineup, the team was 7-3, winning six of its final seven regular season outings.

IMPROVED DEFENSE

The Fever did not allow any of its six regular season opponents in August to shoot above 40 percent from the floor. Those six opponents shot a combined 123-338 from the field (.364). That defensive effort continued into the First Round of the playoffs, as Indiana limited New York to just 22-53 (.425) in Game 1. The Liberty turned the tables on Indiana in Game 2, however, shooting 32-54 (.593) and limiting Indiana to just 23-63 (.365).

AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

The Fever's win at Phoenix on July 31 was the team's record 11th win of the campaign and its fourth against a Western Conference foe. After posting a 3-8 record against the West in each of its first two seasons, the Fever finished with a 4-7 record against the West. After 32 games in 2001, the Fever was 10-22 and in its inaugural season, Indiana was just 9-23. Indiana's win against Cleveland on Aug. 13 was its club-record sixth win of the season on the road. Indiana finished its home schedule with a team-best 10-6 mark, including a club-record five straight wins from July 22 to Aug. 11.

BEYOND THE ARC

With her pair of 3-pt FG against Charlotte on July 22, Tamika Catchings became the second player (along with Monica Maxwell, 62 in 2000) in the team's history to hit 50+ 3-pt FG in a season. Catchings was one of two players in the WNBA during the 2002 season to hit 70+ from 3-pt range. She set a WNBA record in the game at Orlando on July 3, hitting all six of her 3-pt attempts. Her six 3-pt FG is a Fever record and also tied for the most by any player in the WNBA last season.

FIRST-YEAR PLAYOFFS

Not only was the 2002 season the first that Indiana qualified for the WNBA playoffs, it was the first WNBA playoff appearance for virtually every member of the Fever roster. Indiana's playoff rookies included: Catchings, Ivey, Malcolm, Maxwell, Moore, Schumacher, Scott-Richardson and Thompson.

DEAD EYE

For the second consecutive season, the Fever led the WNBA in free throw shooting with a mark of 78.4 percent. Against Detroit, Indiana set a season high by shooting a perfect 12-for-12 from the line on Aug. 9. In 2001, Indiana shot 79.9 percent from the foul line, the fourth-best mark in league history.

THE MAGIC NUMBER WAS 70

Indiana's 73 points against the Liberty in Game 1 in the playoffs was the team's 12th game with 70+ points. In the regular season, the Fever was 9-2 in those games. The Fever was 7-14 when failing to score 70+ points in 2002.

IT TAKES A THIEF

Against Minnesota on July 26, Catchings recorded a WNBA record-tying nine steals. Just the second time in league history that a player ever recorded nine steals, it came almost exactly four years after Michelle Brogan of Phoenix accomplished the feat against Utah on July 27, 1998. The game against Minnesota was Catchings' eighth game of at least five steals in 2002. She had 42 steals in her last 13 games (3.23 spg) of the regular season.

MONTH TO MONTH

With its win against Cleveland on Aug. 13, the Fever had a record of 5-1 in August, the first time in its history that Indiana posted a +500 record in a single month. Indiana completed the month of July with a record of 5-7, its best July ever. The Indiana win vs. Sacramento on June 28 was its sixth in the month of June, the most wins the Fever has ever posted in a single month in its history.

STREAKING FEVER

Entering the season, the Fever franchise had never won three games in a row. It looked like that trend had a chance to carry over into a fourth season, but the Fever finally broke through and won its third game in a row on Aug. 6 in Washington. The team stretched the streak into four games before finally losing at Detroit. The Fever's win against the Liberty in Game 1 of the WNBA Playoffs gave the team its second three-game winning streak.

DON'T TOUCH THAT

Including a club record-low nine personal fouls in the home opener vs. Detroit, the 2002 Fever averaged 17.5 personal fouls in its 32 games. That figure was the second-fewest personal fouls per game in the WNBA and it led the Eastern Conference.

IT'S RALLY TIME

Indiana recovered from a double-digit deficit to post a win in four separate games, including the playoff-clinching win at Cleveland. In that game, the Fever trailed by as many as 12 points and faced a 10-point halftime deficit. Against the Monarchs on June 28, Indiana came from 16 points behind to win by seven (67-60) in what was the third-largest comeback in Fever history.

WIRE-TO-WIRE

Only twice did Indiana lead wire-to-wire during the season. Its Game 1 playoff win over New York was the team's first win without trailing since doing so in the season opener vs. Detroit.

GIVEAWAY, TAKEAWAY

The Fever ranked third in the WNBA in turnovers per game with an average of 13.7. Indiana had 13 or fewer turnovers in eight of the last 11 games and had single-digit turnovers three times. Against Minnesota on July 26, the Fever had more steals (16) than turnovers (12) for the first time in its history. As a result of that team-record 16 steals, the Fever registered a club-record 24 turnovers forced.

A black and white graphic celebrating the Indiana Fever's all-time results. The background features a collage of images: a woman cheering in the top left, and three players in action in the bottom half. The central player is wearing jersey number 24 and is jumping for a rebound. To her left is a player in jersey number 15, and to her right is another player. All players are wearing jerseys with the 'Fever' logo and 'WNBA' on the shorts. A basketball is in the air near the central player. Overlaid on the image is the circular Indiana Fever logo and the text 'ALL-TIME RESULTS' in a bold, sans-serif font.

JUNE 7, 1999

Just three days prior to the start of the 1999 season, the WNBA announces Indiana, Miami, Portland and Seattle are awarded franchises to begin play in 2000. WNBA President Val Ackerman said Indiana made a strong case for a franchise based on the crowds the Pacers draw, the support for the Purdue University women's team, which won the 1999 national championship, and interest in girl's basketball at the high school and Amateur Athletic Union levels.

JUNE 25, 1999

In its quest to sell 5,500 season tickets and officially secure a team in the WNBA, the organization sells its 1,000th season ticket to Dorothy Mengerling, the mother of late-night talk show host David Letterman.

JULY 19, 1999

The advertising tag line of "Buy the Tickets. Keep the Team" begins running in Indianapolis. The campaign, produced by Indianapolis advertising agency Young & Laramore, was the centerpiece of the organization's efforts to attract the necessary 5,500 season ticket commitments by Oct. 15.

JULY 22, 1999

Kelly Krauskopf is hired as the team's first Chief Operating Officer. Krauskopf is the highest-ranking female front office executive at any of the city's professional sports franchises.

JULY 30, 1999

Indianapolis 500 veteran racecar driver Lyn St. James buys the 2,000th season ticket in the team's quest for 5,500. "When the WNBA was initially launched in 1997, I was actually surprised that Indianapolis, with its tremendous basketball tradition and the support that surrounds basketball here, was not one of the cities on the list," St. James said. "I am certainly pleased to see that Indianapolis has now been awarded a franchise and I am confident that the team will be embraced by the loyal basketball fans in Indiana."

AUGUST 13, 1999

Just a few days after he became the 22nd player in Major League Baseball history to reach the 3,000-hit plateau, San Diego Padres' All-Star outfielder Tony Gwynn (now-retired) purchased the franchise's 3,000th season ticket. "I was glad to hear that Indiana was awarded a franchise," Gwynn said, who has a home in Indianapolis. "I have seen first hand how kids look up to professional athletes. My wife and I are looking forward to the opportunity for our kids to watch these WNBA players, who are not only great athletes, but great role models."

AUGUST 17, 1999

FORTNER

Although committed to the U.S. women's national team through the 2000 Olympic Games, Nell Fortner was named the team's first head coach/general manager.

Fortner joined the team in 2001, following her Olympic commitment.

AUGUST 27, 1999

Grammy Award-winning recording artist and Anderson native, Sandi Patty buys the 4,500th season ticket in the team's quest for 5,500. "I have come to love and respect women's sports, and I think this is a wonderful opportunity for Indianapolis and the State of Indiana," Patty said. Also, the team announces its 2000 individual game ticket prices at a press conference at Market Square Arena. The average ticket price to attend a WNBA game at Conseco Fieldhouse would be $13, with prices ranging from $5 to $85.

SEPTEMBER 23, 1999

At the time, Indiana Pacers Head Coach Larry Bird buys the team's 5,000th season ticket. "I think Indiana's WNBA franchise will be a huge success and I'm happy to be a part of helping to ensure that success," Bird said. "Indiana fans love their basketball and I think they will embrace the WNBA team and the high quality of play it will bring to Indiana," Bird said.

OCTOBER 1, 1999

Former U.S. Senator Birch Bayh buys the 5,500th season ticket, a purchase that enables the franchise to meet the league's minimum goal two weeks ahead of schedule. Bayh was quoted as saying, "I have long believed that both our daughters and our sons need to experience the benefits that come with participating in sporting activities." Bayh introduced the 1972 Title IX law, which provided equal opportunities for female participation in athletics.

OCTOBER 12, 1999

WNBA President Val Ackerman visits Indianapolis as the guest speaker at a WNBA Corporate Luncheon. Ackerman speaks to 220 corporate representatives at the Columbia Club on Monument Circle.

OCTOBER 20, 1999

Hall-of-Famer Anne Donovan is named the team's head coach for the 2000 season. Donovan would coach the team in the absence of Fortner, and would then become the team's lead assistant coach for the 2001 season upon Fortner's return.

NOVEMBER 15, 1999

Indiana is awarded the first pick in the 2000 WNBA Expansion Draft in a random drawing at the WNBA League meetings when the team's designated ping-pong ball was the first out of the selection receptacle.

DECEMBER 15, 1999

In the 2000 WNBA Expansion Draft, Indiana selected Los Angeles guard Gordana Grubin with its first pick. In a second-round trade (Sandy Brondello and a 2000 first-round pick) with Miami, Indiana acquired Purdue University alum Stephanie White from Charlotte. Other players acquired by the team were: Nyree Roberts from Washington, Monica Maxwell from Washington, Kara Wolters from Houston, Rita Williams from Washington and Chantel Tremiere from Utah.

APRIL 28, 2000

Chris Denari was named the team's first radio and television play-by-play announcer.

APRIL 29, 2000

200+ women came to Butler University's Hinkle Fieldhouse to the Fever's local tryouts in hopes of landing a spot on the 11-person Fever roster. After two days of basketball, one player, Texlin Quinney from Buffalo, N.Y., made the final cuts and found herself on the Fever's opening day roster.

MAY 1, 2000

Members of the media get their first glimpse of the new WNBA franchise as the morning begins with media day. Later that day, the team opens training camp and holds its first practice on Emmis Court in Conseco Fieldhouse. Karen Wilkins, Shantel Hardison, Monick Foote, Stacey Lovelace, Katasha Artis, Donna Harrington, Alicia Thompson and Texlin Quinney assigned to the Fever by the WNBA.

MAY 6, 2000

Waived Karen Wilkins.

MAY 9, 2000

MAY 27, 2000

Waived Katasha Artis and Nevirye Yilmaz.

MAY 28, 2000

The opening day roster is set as guard Gordana Grubin and center Danielle McCulley are placed on the injured list. The Fever's inaugural season roster includes: Usha Gilmore, Donna Harrington, Monica Maxwell, Stephanie White, Texlin Quinney, Jurgita Streimikyte, Alicia Thompson, Chantel Tremiere, Beverly Williams, Rita Williams and Kara Wolters.

JUNE 1, 2000

The Fever played the Miami Sol for its first regular season game in franchise history. The game was televised live on national television - Lifetime Television for Women. The Fever trailed most of the game, but a Rita Williams' three-pointer with 2:48 to go gave the franchise its first lead and propelled the team to its first victory, 57-54.

WNBA: 2003 & HISTORY

WNBA: 2003 & HISTORY

History of the WNBA

On April 24, 1996, women's basketball announced "We Got Next" as the NBA Board of Governors approved the concept of a Women's National Basketball Association (WNBA) to begin play in June 1997.

Since that day in 1996 there have been many firsts for the WNBA: Val Ackerman - the first president of the WNBA; Sheryl Swoopes - the first player signed to the WNBA; Cynthia Cooper - the league's first Most Valuable Player; the Houston Comets - the first WNBA Champions; Lisa Leslie - the first WNBA player to dunk.

However, the very first for the league was a "to-do list." With less than 15 months to go, a league of its own began to unfold for the WNBA as each task was completed. The history of the WNBA follows:

ON THE AIR . . .

Before a player was signed or a staff member was in place, the league announced its broadcast partnerships with NBC, ESPN and Lifetime Television. It was decided that the WNBA season would be played in the summer when the sports calendar was less crowded and the games could be televised live. During a successful inaugural season, more than 50 million viewers watched WNBA games on the three networks.

ESPN2 joined NBC and ESPN to televise WNBA games beginning in 2001 and carried live coverage of the WNBA Draft. Lifetime, which had carried games during the first four seasons, continued as a partner, presenting Players' Journal, a weekly half-hour magazine show highlighting the on and off-court lives of the league's players and coaches.

Oxygen Media signed on to televise WNBA games in 2002, and ABC Sports became a new partner through a six-year agreement that extended the WNBA's national television coverage through 2008, its 12th season. Telemundo, the fastest growing Spanish language television network in the U.S., and NBA TV, the league's 24-hour television network, also joined ABC, ESPN, ESPN2 and Oxygen to carry WNBA games beginning in 2003.

WNBA games and programming reached the largest global audience since the league's inception in 2002, with WNBA content broadcast to 178 countries in 24 languages. The league delivers an audience unique in sports. In-arena, gender breakdown is approximately 80-20 female-male. The TV audience is about 50-50 female-male, with a strong percentage of non-adult viewers.

THE PLAYERS AND THE TEAMS. . .

The first of the player signings was announced on October 23, 1996, with Sheryl Swoopes and Rebecca Lobo joining the league. The duo was soon followed by Lisa Leslie, Ruthie Bolton, Cynthia Cooper, Michele Timms (the first international player) and many more WNBA hopefuls.

Eight teams were announced for the league's inaugural season. The Eastern Conference consisted of the Charlotte Sting, Cleveland Rockers, Houston Comets and New York Liberty while the Western Conference was comprised of the Los Angeles Sparks, Phoenix Mercury, Sacramento Monarchs and Utah Starzz.

On April 29, 1999, the WNBA and the Women's National Basketball Players Association (WNBPA) announced on the league's first collective bargaining agreement - a first of its kind in women's team sports. By 2002, the league had expanded to 16 teams, with the Detroit Shock and Washington Mystics joining the league in 1998, the Minnesota Lynx and Orlando Miracle in 1999, and the Indiana Fever, Miami Sol, Portland Fire and Seattle Storm in 2000.

The 2002 season saw 176 women play professional basketball in 256 regular-season WNBA games (schedule history: 34 games in 2003; 32 games from 1999-2002; 30 in 1998; 28 in 1997). Continuing to showcase talented stars from around the world, the league featured 45 players from 22 countries.

In October 2002, the NBA Board of Governors voted to restructure the WNBA to allow individual team ownership, and to allow teams to be owned by non-NBA owners and located in non-NBA markets. Orlando, Miami, Portland and Utah elected not to assume ownership of their teams, and in December, the WNBA announced the relocation of the Utah Starzz to San Antonio, which had previously been awarded a WNBA franchise. The team would be named the Silver Stars.

On January 28, 2003, the Connecticut Sun became the newest WNBA franchise, with the Mohegan Sun becoming the first non-NBA owner in league history. With 14 teams in place for the 2003 season, the WNBA was set to enter its seventh season as the leading women's professional basketball league in the world.

THE WNBA DRAFT . . .

The Comets selected Tina Thompson, the Pac-10 Conference's leading scorer, with the first pick of the Inaugural WNBA Draft. Margo Dydek, a 7-2 center from Poland, was selected first in the 1998 Draft by the Starzz, and two-time Associated Press Women's Basketball Player of the Year Chamique Holdseclaw was the Washington Mystics' No. 1 selection in the 1999 Draft. In 2000, the Cleveland Rockers selected Ann Wauters from Belgium as the first overall pick, and Australian Olympian Lauren Jackson went to the Seattle Storm with the No. 1 selection in 2001. In 2002, National Player of the Year Sue Bird was selected by Seattle, who had the top pick for the second consecutive year by virtue of the WNBA's first Draft Lottery, held in New York on November 13, 2001.

THE LOGOS AND THE UNIFORMS . . .

With players and teams in place, the league began its next task of creating logos and uniforms. The red, white and blue official WNBA logo - "Logo Woman" - was selected from about 50 different designs. After developing an extensive list of choices, the team names were selected by the league and the teams based on numerous factors, including: a tie to the NBA team name in that market, a link to a key characteristic of each city or state and/or the creation of a name fitting the current sports landscape. The uniforms also underwent several designs, and on May 21, 1997, the WNBA unveiled the team uniforms - two shorts silhouettes and three jerseys.

WNBA: 2003 & HISTORY

History of the WNBA

IT'S A BALL GAME . . .

The WNBA game consists of a 30-second clock, a 19-foot, 9-inch three-point line, two 20-minute halves, eleven-player rosters and a collegiate-regulation size ball. The WNBA's signature orange-and-oatmeal basketball by Spalding is 28.5 inches in circumference and one inch smaller than the NBA's regulation ball. In January 2003, Spalding Sports Worldwide and the WNBA announced the Spalding WNBA Infusion basketball, featuring a built-in, dual action Micro Pump®, as the new official game ball of the league beginning in the 2003 season.

MILLIONS OF FANS JOIN IN . . .

The inaugural WNBA season tipped off on June 21, 1997, with the New York Liberty taking on the Los Angeles Sparks at the Great Western Forum in Inglewood, Calif. A crowd of 14,284 watched as Sparks guard Penny Toler scored the first basket in WNBA history. The Liberty defeated the Sparks 67-57. Then on August 22, the WNBA league attendance surpassed the 1 million mark at America West Arena in Phoenix. In 2001, the WNBA welcomed its 10 millionth fan on September 1 at the STAPLES Center in Los Angeles. In 2002, more than 2.5 million fans attended WNBA games for the second straight year, as regular-season attendance averaged more than 9,000 fans for the sixth straight season.

FANS GET CONNECTED . . .

In addition to television, the league website, WNBA.com, is an important tool in reaching fans. The single most authoritative source of information for the league, offers WNBA fans around the world late-breaking league news, real-time scores, statistics and shot charts, as well as complete behind-the-scenes access, live chats with WNBA players and personalities, expert analysis from WNBA insiders, and exclusive Web-based shows and programs.

IN THE COMMUNITY . . .

For the WNBA, the focus has been three primary outreach initiatives: Read to Achieve, a year-round, league-wide initiative that promotes the value of reading and on-line literacy and encourages families and adults to read regularly with young children; the Breast Health Awareness program, an initiative designed to draw national attention to the issue of breast cancer and the importance of early detection; and the Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA, a support organization for recreational youth basketball leagues that connects players, parents and coaches in an effort to heighten awareness and participation in youth basketball. In 2003, the WNBA will debut its Mind. Body. Spirit. campaign, which encompasses the Breast Health Awareness program but also focuses on Nutrition, Exercise and Positive Self-Image, designed to educate and inform women and their families on the value of being active and eating well in order to feel better, have energy and develop a good healthy lifestyle.

LEAGUE SHOWCASES ALL-STARS . . .

On July 14, 1999, the league held the Inaugural WNBA All-Star Game at Madison Square Garden in New York, televised live on ESPN. The capacity crowd of 18,649 witnessed the incredible sportsmanship, teamwork, enthusiasm, fan involvement and in-arena excitement that characterizes the WNBA. The Western Conference All-Stars – led by the game's Most Valuable Player and Los Angeles Sparks center Lisa Leslie – defeated the Eastern Conference 79-61.

All-Star excitement continued in 2000 as the game moved to the America West Arena in Phoenix on July 17. The West All-Stars defeated the East All-Stars 73-61 before a crowd of 17,717 as Houston's Tina Thompson captured MVP honors. Leslie earned her second All-Star MVP award at the 2001 WNBA All-Star Game, played at the TD Waterhouse Centre in Orlando, Fla., on July 16 in front of 16,906 fans. The West claimed its third victory with an 80-72 defeat of the East. The 2002 WNBA All-Star Game was played on Monday, July 15 in Washington, D.C., at the MCI Center. The West All-Stars defeated the East All-Stars 81-76 in front of a crowd of 19,487, with Leslie earning MVP honors for the third time. ESPN televised the game live for the fourth consecutive year.

In 2003, the WNBA All-Star Game will mark its fifth anniversary with a return to Madison Square Garden on Saturday, July 12. The event will be held on the weekend for the first time and make its network television debut on ABC.

WE GOT GAME . . .

Women's basketball has come a long way since its beginnings in 1892 when Senda Berenson adapted James Naismith's basketball rules for women. And with the continued growth of the WNBA, the sport is sure to go even further. For more information on the WNBA and its history, log onto <http://www.wnba.com>.

WNBA: 2003 & HISTORY

WNBA Alignment Map

AMANDA PETRAK AND MARK PODOLAK.

CREDENTIALS MUST BE VISIBLE AT ALL TIMES.

All media with access to restricted areas will be required to produce a photo ID, and all bags and equipment will be subject to inspection.

CREDENTIALS

Seating at Consecro Fieldhouse's press tables is restricted to accredited working media representatives. Non-working media will be seated in reserved seat areas when seats are available.

Single-game credentials must be requested no later than noon the day before the game (Friday noon for Sunday games).

You may request credentials by faxing, on company's letterhead, to the Fever's Media Relations Department at (317) 917-2599, or by writing, on your company's letterhead, to the Fever's Media Relations Department, 125 S. Pennsylvania Street, Indianapolis, IN 46204.

Credentials are good for admittance to Consecro Fieldhouse, the Bill York Media Room and home and visiting locker rooms.

Pre-arranged credentials may be picked up before the game at the media entrance.

MEDIA MEMBERS HOLDING FEVER SEASON CREDENTIALS MUST NOTIFY THE FEVER'S MEDIA RELATIONS DEPARTMENT IF PLANNING TO COVER A GAME IN ORDER TO RESERVE SEATING.

AUTOGRAPHS

SEEKING AUTOGRAPHS OR SOUVENIR ITEMS FROM PLAYERS OR COACHES IS STRICTLY PROHIBITED AND SUBJECT TO FORFEITURE OF CREDENTIAL.

MEDIA ENTRANCE

The media entrance is located at the southeast corner of Consecro Fieldhouse, off of Delaware Street. Only media members who hold Indiana Fever or WNBA media credentials will be admitted through this entrance.

BILL YORK MEDIA ROOM

Located on the Event Level of Consecro Fieldhouse in the southeast corner. It is accessible by either elevator or stairs near the Media Entrance.

The Fever must limit media room usage to members of the media only when valid Fever or WNBA media credentials are presented. It is impossible to accommodate family members, friends, guests or others.

The professional intent of the room is to provide a meeting and working place for the media and game personnel. Any abuse of the media room and/or media privileges will cause forfeiture of your credential.

SERVICES

Complete statistics, along with pregame gamenotes, lineups, information regarding injuries and other pertinent facts will be furnished by the Fever's Media Relations Department.

Play-by-play and halftime boxscores will be delivered directly to the press table. Complete final boxscores, play-by-plays and postgame quotes and notes will be available following the game in the media room.

FAX - The Indiana Fever will provide one fax machine for use in the media room.

PRESS ROW

Your cooperation is asked in maintaining a working atmosphere at press row. Smoking is prohibited in Consecro Fieldhouse.

LOCKER ROOMS

Both the Fever and visitors' locker rooms will be open to the media for 30 minutes, beginning 90 minutes before tipoff. For example, the locker rooms will be open from 5:30 p.m. - 6:00 p.m. for a 7:00 p.m. tip.

POSTGAME LOCKER ROOMS

Both locker rooms will be open for 30 minutes following the game. Players will remain in uniform for the media availability period.

PHOTOGRAPHY GUIDELINES

Only those photographers on assignment will be allowed space on the floor and their photo credentials must be worn prominently at all times.

Space permitting, other photographers will be allowed on the floor.

Credentials are good for admittance to Consecro Fieldhouse, Bill York Media Room and the designated photographer areas on The Fieldhouse floor. Only television photographers doing postgame interviews will have access to locker room areas.

Photographers are allowed only within the designated photographers' area at each end of the court. Spaces will be assigned by the Fever's Media Relations Department.

All photographers and camera operators must stay at least four feet behind the baseline at all times. In the event it is not physically possible to achieve this in certain arenas, an appro-appropriate standard will be determined by the Fever's Media Relations Department and the WNBA.

Photographers must remain stationary and seated at all times, except during quarter breaks and halftime.

Photographers are not permitted on the court at any time during the game.

No food or drink is allowed on the playing floor.

Photographers cannot photograph from public walkways or vomitories.

If space is available, photographers may request to photograph from the media seating in the stands.

When placing tape on the playing floor, authorization must be received by a member of the Pacers Sports & Entertainment Media Relations Department or Facilities Division.

PHOTOGRAPHER'S EQUIPMENT

Photographers located on the baseline or sideline will be permitted only one standard size "Domke" bag which must be placed behind the photographer during the game. Equipment not needed during the game must be stored off the court. One additional camera can be stored either beside or directly behind the photographer.

Each photographer will be permitted one monopod — NO TRIPODS — at court-side. No stand-alone remotes or seats other than "lawn-type" photographer seats will be permitted.

All film should be unpacked before the game and all trash should be properly disposed of by the photographer.

RUBBER LENS SHADES

In order to reduce the risk of injury to players, rubber lens shades are required for all still photographers, broadcasters, news and entertainment video and film crews who are authorized to shoot WNBA game action.

Any additional light sources or sun guns must either be removed or covered with bubble wrap.

Rubber lens covers are available by contacting:

Robert's Distributors, Inc.

255 S. Meridian Street

Indianapolis, IN 46225

(317) 636-5524 / (800) 726-5544

FAX: (317) 636-5793

The only exception to this policy will be for those photographers utilizing telephoto lenses (i.e. 300 and 400 mm lenses) when such lenses are used to shoot game action at the opposite end of the court. These lenses must be stored behind the photographer when the action is in the near side of the court.

PHOTOGRAPHY IN LOCKER ROOMS

No still photography is permitted in the either teams' locker room.

CLOTHING

All photographers must leave any outer wear (i.e. coats, hats, etc.) in the Bill York Media Room during game action.

TV NEWS CREWS

Credential requests must be received by Noon the day of the game.

News crews are restricted to crowd interviews in the Entry Pavilion, Balcony and Main Concourse. Interviews are not allowed in the vomitories on any level of Conseco Fieldhouse. News crews are not allowed on the Suite or Club Levels, unless accompanied by a member of the Fever's Media Relations Department. In order to enter a suite, each news crew must have permission from the individual suite holder to enter their respective suite. Once permission is granted, the news crew must inform a member of the Fever's Media Relations Department, and then will be accompanied into the suite by a member of the Fever's Media Relations Department.

During game action, news crews must shoot crowd reaction from designated areas. Check with the Fever's Media Relations Department for locations. No interviews will be allowed within the seating bowl once game action begins.

INTERNATIONAL MEDIA

All international media (affiliations distributed outside of the U.S.) requests are handled by the NBA International PR Department. Any international media member interested in covering an Indiana Fever regular-season game must first submit a request in writing to the WNBA. Please do not contact the Fever individually.

All credential requests must be received at least three business days prior to the first games requested.

Photo identification will be required when picking up confirmed credentials at the Media Entrance.

Requests may be FAXED to the attention of:

Mathew Allred

Public Relations Assistant, NBA International

FAX: (212) 407-8044

Additional information on international media policies may be obtained by contacting Mathew at (212) 407-8502 or via email at mallred@nba.com.

Broadcast Partners

WIBC RADIO

Radio Broadcasts of all Indiana Fever home and away games air on 1070, WIBC-AM, a radio entity of Emmis Communications. WIBC has a long relationship with Pacers Sports & Entertainment as the flagship station of the Indiana Pacers Radio Network. WIBC boasts the state's largest radio news team, and is the recognized sports leader in Central Indiana. Chris Denari and Kevin Lee serve as play-by-play voices of the Fever, with Janie Schott adding color analysis.

FOX SPORTS NET

Regional cable sports affiliate FOX Sports Midwest carries four Fever games in 2003, with Chris Denari and Debbie Antonelli calling the action. Based in St. Louis, FOX Sports Midwest carries Fever games to viewing areas in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska. Home team coverage begins on Friday, June 20 when the Fever host Connecticut. Other games from Conseco Fieldhouse include Phoenix (July 2), San Antonio (July 23) and Cleveland (Aug. 23). Local TV partners with the Indiana Pacers, as well, FOX Sports Midwest and WB4 each have carried Fever games since the team's founding in the 2000 WNBA season.

WB4

A member of the Tribune Broadcasting Company, WTTV-TV (WB4) in Indianapolis will air four Fever games in 2003 to continue its four-year relationship with the WNBA franchise. A local TV partner with FOX Sports Midwest, WB4 will lipoff its 2003 coverage on Saturday, June 7 when Indiana hosts a playoff rematch with the New York Liberty. The four-game schedule of "Saturday Night Fever" games on WB4 continue from Conseco Fieldhouse against Seattle (June 28), Minnesota (July 26) and Charlotte (Aug. 16). Chris Denari and Debbie Antonelli call the action.

ABC & ESPN2

The WNBA begins a six-year contract with ABC and cable sports channel ESPN2 in 2003, joining its NBA counterpart in airing games on both networks. WNBA games will be carried on the sister networks through 2008. "The WNBA's new television package validates the rapidly growing appeal of women's professional sports," said WNBA President Val Ackerman. ABC will televise six Saturday afternoon regular-season games in 2003, plus the All-Star Game and playoffs. ESPN2, which aired the WNBA Draft in April, is scheduled to show 10 regular-season games and playoffs with a 30-minute pregame show prior to each telecast. ESPN2 is available in 84 million U.S. homes.

OXYGEN NETWORK

Oxygen Network is the cable TV platform of Oxygen Media, an integrated media brand that combines the best qualities of cable television and the Internet to serve women. Founded in 1998 by Geraldine Laybourne, Marcy Carsey, Tom Werner, Caryn Mandabach and Oprah Winfrey, Oxygen consists of web properties including Oxygen.com and Oprah.com, and a 24-hour cable network featuring music, talk, health, comedy, movies and sports. Oxygen currently reaches more than 40 million television households nationwide. The 2003 WNBA season is the second of a two-year agreement that calls for Oxygen to televise a minimum of 11 WNBA each year - 13 are scheduled for 2003. The network televises WNBA weeknight games to a primetime audience. Debbie Antonelli and Beth Mowins call the action.

Fever Broadcasters

CHRIS DENARI

RADIO/TV PLAY-BY-PLAY ANNOUNCER

Chris Denari begins his fourth season as the Fever's play-by-play announcer after being named the voice of the Fever on April 28, 2000.

Denari has been involved in broadcasting sports for 20 years, and for the past 14 seasons he has been the voice of Butler University's men's basketball team. He has called all five of the Bulldogs' recent NCAA tournament appearances, including their trip to the 2003 Sweet Sixteen.

Along with his Butler responsibilities, Denari is a member of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Radio Network for the Indianapolis 500 and Brickyard 400, the Indianapolis Colts Radio Network and is the television play-by-play voice of the Indiana High School Athletic Association's boys' basketball state championship games.

Denari currently holds the position of Director of Sports Communications/Marketing with Methodist Sports Medicine, a position he's held for four years. Prior to joining Methodist, Denari was an Associate Athletic Director for Marketing and Events at Butler. Denari began his communications career as the Sports Information Director at the University of Indianapolis from 1985-88.

The Dayton, Ohio native graduated from Westfield (Ind.) High School in 1979 where he played basketball for his father Bob Denari. In 1983, Denari graduated from Wabash College with a B.S. in English. He was a member of Wabash's 1982 NCAA Division III National Championship basketball team.

Denari and his wife, Terry, live in Carmel and have three sons Evan (13), Wilson (11) and Max (7).

JANE SCHOTT

RADIO COLOR ANALYST

Jane Schott begins her fourth season as color analyst for the Indiana Fever in 2003.

Schott has served as a radio color analyst for Purdue University women's basketball since the 1998-99 season. The Boilermakers were NCAA champions in 1999 and NCAA runners-up in 2001.

A former player for the Boilermakers (1988-92), Schott (Calhoun) was a three-time Academic All-Big Ten Conference selection and a member of Purdue's first-ever Big Ten championship team in 1991. The Boilermakers advanced to the NCAA Sweet 16 in 1990 and 1992. She holds a B.S. in chemistry and a master's degree in chemistry education teaching, both from Purdue, and was selected Phi Beta Kappa.

Since 1999, Schott has been a chemistry teacher and head girls' basketball coach at Harrison High School in West Lafayette, Ind. She previously taught and coached at Glenbrook North High School (Northbrook, Ill.) and Benton Central High School (Oxford, Ind.).

A native of Tipton, Ind., Schott was an Indiana All-Star as a high school player. She lives in West Lafayette with her husband, Tom (the sports information director at Purdue), and their two sons, August and Sam. She ran the 1997 Chicago Marathon.

DEBBIE ANTONELLI

TELEVISION COLOR ANALYST

Debbie Antonelli is in her second season with the Fever broadcast team after spending four seasons as a Charlotte Sting broadcaster. She joins Fever play-by-play announcer, Chris Denari, as the color analyst for each of the team's local television broadcasts. She also is in her second year covering WNBA games on the Oxygen Network.

Since 1996, Antonelli's television resume includes: lead analyst for Atlantic Coast Conference women's basketball, along with the Big 12, the Big Ten and Southeastern Conference women's basketball. She has also called the Division II National Championship Game and the Women's Basketball Coaches Association High School All-American Game on ESPN2. Before joining the broadcast team in Charlotte, Antonelli served as a FOX Sports Net national television analyst during the American Basketball League's first three seasons and was the analyst for the ABL's Columbus Quest regional television package.

Antonelli has also worked first- and second-round games of the women's NCAA tournament for ESPN and has worked as the radio analyst for the national syndication of the CBS/NCAA Radio Network for the past eight Women's Final Fours. She has also worked as a sideline reporter for CBS Sports during the 2000 Men's NCAA Tournament.

Prior to her broadcasting career, Antonelli spent four years as the Director of Marketing for the University of Kentucky, and four more in a similar capacity at Ohio State University. She spent five years as the television analyst for the Ohio State women's basketball team and prior to that, she spent three years as the TV analyst for the Dayton Flyers men's basketball team.

Antonelli was a three-year starter at guard for North Carolina State where she helped guide the Wolfpack to four NCAA tournament appearances and two Sweet 16 appearances. The Cary, N.C., native graduated in 1986 with a double major in business management and economics. She went on to earn her master's degree in sports administration in 1988 from Ohio University, where she also served as the graduate assistant women's basketball coach.

Antonelli, her husband, Frank and their three sons, Joey (8), Frankie (6) and Patrick (17 months) reside in Mt. Pleasant, S.C.

KEVIN LEE

RADIO HOST

Kevin Lee is in his fourth season with the Fever. Lee has also been the host of the Indiana Pacers radio network for the last eight years, handling the pregame, halftime and postgame shows.

In addition to his work with the Fever and Pacers, Lee is the host of WIBC's Sports Talk and covers racing for the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Radio Network. He also has done play-by-play for the Indiana High School Basketball and Football State Championships, and Ball State University football and basketball.

Lee is a graduate of Ben Davis High School and Ball State University. He and his wife, Stacey, and their new son Jackson, live in Indianapolis.

Conseco Fieldhouse Seating Chart

With 750,000 square feet and 18,345 seats, this is a fairly new house that is, remarkably, an old home.

Conseco Fieldhouse, opened Nov. 6, 1999, when the Indiana Pacers hosted the Boston Celtics, is a step into the future while taking a walk back into history. It's big, yet comfortable. It has all the modern appliances, yet there's that favorite old picture on the wall. It is a building that is unique in today's sports society because the extra effort was made to make it that way. In other words, if you have a religion, you must build the appropriate cathedral.

In Indiana, basketball is religion. Conseco Fieldhouse is the cathedral. That's what makes the home of the Indiana Pacers and Indiana Fever unique.

"We wanted this building to have a kind of special feeling to it, that when people came into it they felt part of the tradition that the building is for," said Pacers Sports & Entertainment President Donnie Walsh. "I think this is a pure basketball arena that reflects the game itself and the roots of the game."

Ground was broken on July 22, 1997 on the $183 million multi-purpose facility and while there were blueprints, a scale model and dreams, it was hard for anyone at the time to fathom what would evolve. But what has risen 14 stories into the Indianapolis skyline is a fit perfect for the city, the state, the game of basketball at any level and the various events a facility of this type would host.

"There are so many features that make it one-of-a-kind," said Tom Probstle, Project Designer for Ellerbe Beckett, the Fieldhouse design firm. "The most obvious feature is the two huge glass curtain walls facing east and west that mark the beginning of an incredible architectural promenade as you are approaching downtown on the highway and see the lit-up glass set against the Indianapolis skyline. No other arena in the world can claim this. I'm sure it will be copied many times over."

That's the view from the outside. Inside, the unique look and feel of Conseco Fieldhouse fully takes over. The entry pavilion is a vast gathering place that funnels fans to the grand staircase. As patrons make their way up the staircase, their view takes them to their first look at the seating bowl (another unique feature) or to large, memorabilia cases on each side of the entrance to the fieldhouse seating bowl.

From there, no matter which direction one takes, it's a nostalgic look. From the signage, to the concession stands, to the sponsor pavilions, to the bathrooms, to the practice facility, to the light fixtures, to the scoreboard, to the roll-out bleachers at the south end, Conseco Fieldhouse is unique, distinct and, as Pacers' guard Reggie Miller described, "Unbelievable. Absolutely unbelievable. Far beyond my expectations."

Conseco Fieldhouse has suites (69), club seats (2,400) and state-of-the-art amenities. But it has a look and feel unlike any other indoor facility.

This unique feel has brought many comparisons and compliments to Conseco Fieldhouse. The USA Today calls the Fieldhouse "A Cathedral to Basketball" and Amusement Business Magazine refers to Conseco Fieldhouse as "The Camden Yards of Basketball." NBC's Bob Costas said Conseco Fieldhouse "is winning raves all around the league, many think it's the best building in the NBA."

In addition to hosting major boxing events (Vernon Forrest vs. Sugar Shane Mosley, 7/21/02; Roy Jones, Jr. vs. Richard Hall, 5/13/00) and the Indiana Pacers and Fever, the Fieldhouse has hosted visits from Pavarotti, Bill Cosby, Bruce Springsteen, The Boston Pops, John Mellencamp, Tim McGraw & Faith Hill, The Dixie Chicks, NSync, Britney Spears, Crosby Stills, Nash & Young, Kid Rock and Disney On Ice. It has also played host to the 2002 FIBA World Basketball Championships and in 2004, it will host the World Short Course Swimming Championships.

Additionally, Conseco Fieldhouse has already been cited for its compliance and exceeding of ADA (Americans with Disabilities Act) requirements.

MEDIA INFORMATION

WNBA Playoff Format

The top four teams from each conference will qualify for the 2003 WNBA Playoffs.

The first and fourth place teams and the second and third place teams will each play a best-of-three first round series. The winners of the first round series in each conference will then play in a best-of-three conference final. The two conference final winners will meet in a best-of-three championship series.

TIEBREAKER PROCEDURE

The following tiebreak procedure shall be used to break ties for playoff eligibility, home court advantage and draft order. In determining draft order, non-playoff teams will always select before playoff teams.

TWO-WAY TIE BETWEEN TEAMS IN THE SAME CONFERENCE

- (1) Better record in head-to-head games
- (2) Better winning percentage in own conference
- (3) Better winning percentage against all teams with .500 or better record at the end of the season
- (4) Better point differential in games head-to-head
- (5) Coin toss

TWO-WAY TIE BETWEEN TEAMS IN THE DIFFERENT CONFERENCE

In order to break a tie, the following criteria will be utilized in the order set forth:

- (1) Better record in head-to-head games
- (2) Better winning percentage against teams in the opposite conference
- (3) Better winning percentage against all teams with .500 or better record at the end of the season
- (4) Better point differential in games head-to-head
- (5) Coin toss

MORE THAN TWO TEAMS TIED

As many teams as possible will be eliminated at each step. As soon as one or more teams are eliminated at any step, the process must begin again from step (1).

- (1) Better winning percentage among all head-to-head games involving tied teams
- (2) Better winning percentage against teams in own conference (if all teams are from the same conference) or better record against teams in the opposite conference (if one or more teams are in different conferences)
- (3) Better winning percentage against all teams with .500 or better record at the end of the season
- (4) Better point differential in games involving tied teams
- (5) Coin toss

SCHEDULING

FIRST ROUND

The first and second place teams in each conference will have home court advantage in the First Round and will host a Game Two and Three (if needed) of the series after playing Game One on the road.

CONFERENCE FINALS

The team with the better regular season record will have home court advantage in the Conference Finals and will host Games Two and Three (if needed) of the series after playing Game One on the road.

WNBA FINALS

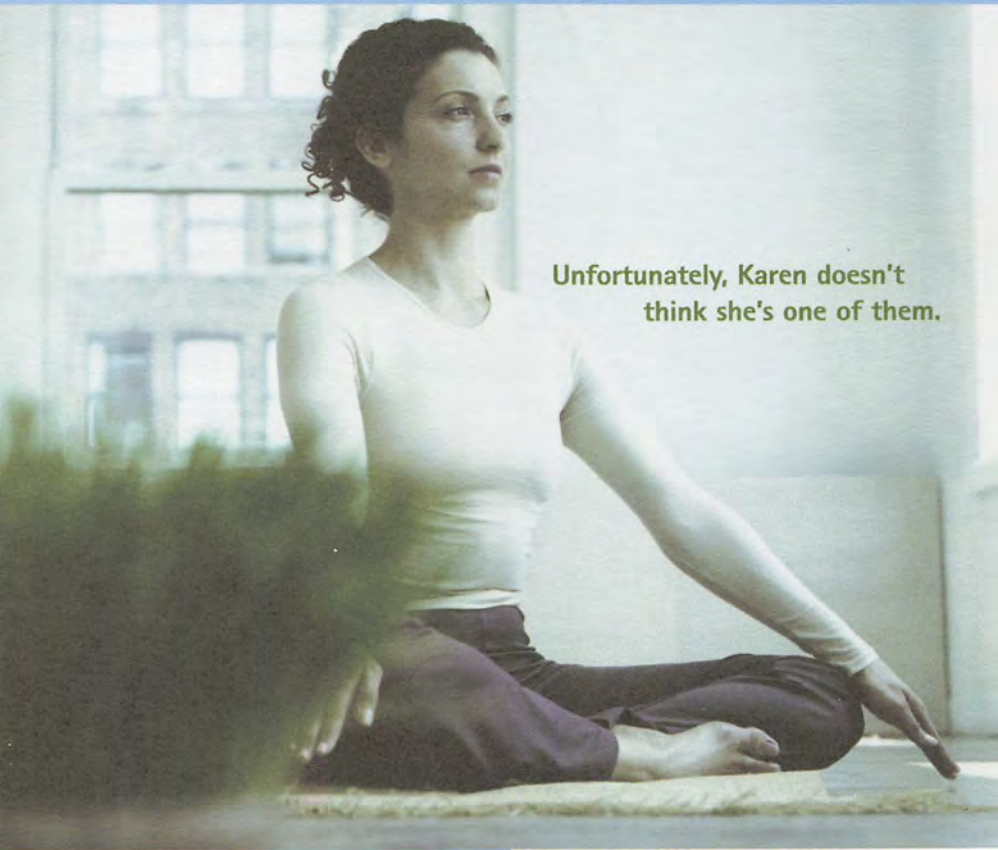

The team with the better regular season record will have home court advantage in the WNBA Finals and will host Games Two and Three (if needed) of the series after playing Game One on the road.
